What happened to the shawl?

Author: Arvind Gupta
Illustrator: Debasmita Dasgupta
One day, the great Buddha was taking a walk around the monastery.

He was approached by a monk who wanted a new woolen shawl.
The Buddha asked him, "What has happened to your old shawl?"

"It had become very old and worn out. So I am using it as a bedsheet," replied the monk.
The Buddha asked again, "But what happened to your old bedsheets?"

"Master, that bed sheet got old with use. It was worn and torn. So I cut it up and made a pillow cover out of it," replied the monk.
"But there certainly was a pillow cover before you made a new one. What did you do to your old pillow cover?" asked the Buddha.

"My head had rubbed a million times against the old pillow cover and had made a big hole in it. So I made a doormat out of it," replied the monk, in earnest.
Gautama Buddha was not satisfied by this answer. He always delved deep into every issue.

He asked the monk, "Tell me, what did you do with your old doormat?"
The monk replied with folded hands, "Master, the old doormat had got totally worn out. After being used for so long, the warp and the weft had come out. So I took the cotton fibres and braided a wick out of them. Later, I burned the cotton wick in the oil lamp."

The Buddha smiled after listening to the monk. The monk got a new shawl!
Make your own cloth ball

1. Choose old clothes at home that you can reuse. You will need to cut out two pentagon shapes and five petal shapes like this.

2. Hand-stitch the pieces. Or get an adult to machine stitch them. Leave a small hole in one pentagon.
3. Turn it inside out.

4. Insert a strong balloon and blow it.
5. Twist the mouth of the balloon, tie a knot, and push it in through the button-hole.

6. Yippee! Your colourful cloth ball is ready.
Fun with threads!

Here is an easy way to have hours of fun with small bits of thread or wool.

1. Find an empty matchbox.

2. Thread a length of wool about 70cm long diagonally through the box.
3. Thread a length of wool in another colour through the other diagonal. Tie the ends together.

4. Ask a friend to hold both the ends of the wool. And you can slide the box gently across.
Surprise, surprise!

The wool seems to change colour as it comes out of the box!

Find more such free-to-download projects at www.arvindguptatoys.com
Recycle! Reuse! Reduce!

We buy, use and throw away things without thinking much about them. We buy much more than we need. Our mantra seems to be, "Buy more! Throw more!" We misuse Earth’s resources like water, trees, sand and soil and produce tonnes of junk that become mountains of garbage.
But has it always been like this? Have we Indians always been wasteful? No! History tells us that Indians have been very frugal and sensible. We believe that every object has several uses - not one, but many lives. The concept of reuse and recycle has very deep roots in the Indian culture.

This story is 2,500 years old, set in the times when the great sage and teacher Gautama Buddha lived. It shows a deep respect and sensitivity for the material world. It has many lessons for us.
Story Attribution:
This story: What happened to the shawl? is written by Arvind Gupta. © Pratham Books, 2016. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license.

Other Credits:
'What happened to the shawl?' has been published on StoryWeaver by Pratham Books. The development of this book has been supported by Mahle Behr India Pvt. Ltd.

Images Attributions:

Disclaimer: https://www.storyweaver.org.in/terms_and_conditions

Some rights reserved. This book is CC-BY-4.0 licensed. You can copy, modify, distribute and perform the work, even for commercial purposes, all without asking permission. For full terms of use and attribution, http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/
What happened to the shawl?
(English)

This ancient story from the life of the great sage, Gautama Buddha, carries a deep lesson about conservation. A disciple finds out that getting the Buddha to sanction a new shawl for him is no easy matter!

This is a Level 3 book for children who are ready to read on their own.

Pratham Books goes digital to weave a whole new chapter in the realm of multilingual children’s stories. Knitting together children, authors, illustrators and publishers. Folding in teachers, and translators. To create a rich fabric of openly licensed multilingual stories for the children of India and the world. Our unique online platform, StoryWeaver, is a playground where children, parents, teachers and librarians can get creative. Come, start weaving today, and help us get a book in every child’s hand!