

Every child should own a hundred books by the age of five. To that end, Book Dash gathers creative professionals who volunteer to create new, African storybooks that anyone can freely translate and distribute. To find out more, and to download beautiful, print-ready books, visit bookdash.org.

Feathered Friends

Illustrated by Daniela Hammond

Written by Jacqui L'Ange

Designed by Stephanie Pretorius

Edited by Helen Moffett

with the help of the Book Dash participants in Cape Town on 2 December 2017.

ISBN: 978-1-928442-10-3

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 Licence (<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>). You are free to share (copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format) and adapt (remix, transform, and build upon the material) this work for any purpose, even commercially. The licensor cannot revoke these freedoms as long as you follow the following license terms:

Attribution: You must give appropriate credit, provide a link to the license, and indicate if changes were made. You may do so in any reasonable manner, but not in any way that suggests the licensor endorses you or your use.

No additional restrictions: You may not apply legal terms or technological measures that legally restrict others from doing anything the license permits.

Notices: You do not have to comply with the license for elements of the material in the public domain or where your use is permitted by an applicable exception or limitation.

No warranties are given. The license may not give you all of the permissions necessary for your intended use. For example, other rights such as publicity, privacy, or moral rights may limit how you use the material.

Feathered Friends

Daniela Hammond Jacqui L'Ange Stephanie Pretorius

We are the oakum boys.
We do everything together.

Penguins don't fly, they swim.
But we're too young to swim.

So we walk.

One day we went for a long walk.

A watercolor illustration depicting two small brown bears walking away from the viewer on a path. The path is marked with a series of brown footprints that recede into the distance. The background is a soft, textured wash of light blue and white, suggesting a misty or snowy landscape. The overall style is gentle and artistic.

We walked and walked.
Until we saw something new.

He's got something on his head!

You're changing!

So are you!

It's not so bad!

It's not so cold!

I will!

But who's going to teach us to swim?

In this book you'll meet king penguins, chinstrap penguins, and one lonely macaroni ... as seen through the eyes of the oakum boys, which are what king penguin babies are before they grow up.

All of these penguin species (and a few more) are found in Antarctica, the coldest, driest, windiest place on earth. It takes some very special qualities to survive in this harsh landscape. But if you are lucky enough to visit here, you will find that no matter how alike the penguins seem, each one is different – and all of them are special.

We hope that by learning about these amazing animals, future generations will want to protect them as much as we do.

