There is no bad language or offensive words anywhere in these books.

Joe looked out of the window.
It was raining.
Snozel was fast asleep in his basket.

Come on, said Joe. Lets go for a walk in the rain.

Snozel looked out of the window.
He did not want to go out in the rain.

Snozel pretended to be asleep.

That never works thought Snozel as Joe put Snozels lead on and pulled him out of his nice warm basket.

Snozel then pretended to go lame in the hall.
That did not work either.

Outside it was raining.
Everything was wet wet wet.
Soon Snozel became very wet.

Snozel looked at Joe.
Joe was dry.
Joe was wearing a big yellow hat, a big red coat and big yellow wellington boots.

As they walked down the street past the post box Snozel thought about his cold wet feet....

Why can't I have real yellow wellingtons thought Snozel, he started thinking about yellow wellingtons

Real yellow wellingtons
Stand upon there own,
They astound you
Dumbfound you,
They throw themselves
At you,
They display
An array,
Of tempestuous Abandon,
And show out
There owner,
To be of
Good taste,
So never despair
Rush out for A pair,
And show
The whole world,
You're
A swell.

Half way down the street they met
Sprags feet walking towards them.
They could not see the rest of Sprag
as he was covered by a big umbrella.

Hello Sprag, said Joe

Sprag lifted up the umbrella.
Hello Joe, said Sprag
then pulled the umbrella down again
and carried on walking up the street.

Joe and Snozel arrived outside Banners cake shop.
They looked in through the window.
Now what cakes shall we have for tea,
said Joe.

Snozels ears pricked up.
He looked with new interest
at the cakes in the window.

They went into the shop. There were all sorts of cakes, chocolate eclairs, cream buns, coffee cake, angel cake, jam roll and Snozels favourite, big sticky jam doughnuts.

Four cream buns, said Joe to the shop assistant.

Four ! Thought Snozel, Four ! He is not buying any for me. He looks a Joe with big round eyes and gave a small whimper.

Joe put the cakes in a bag to carry home.
Snozel slowly and very sadly turned to go out the shop door.

Joe looked up. And one big sticky jam doughnut, said Joe.
Snozel felt very happy.

Snozel was carrying a bag with his big sticky jam doughnut bun in it. As they splashed through the puddles Snozel realised it was still raining.

Who minds a little rain, thought Snozel, when there is a big sticky jam doughnut for tea.

About these books

This series of books was designed with two functions in mind :-

Firstly as a reading resource for primary education at schools and for private tuition. They are graded from simple picture books to full text short stories. The layout is simple and designed to be fun and downloaded so they may be used without being connected to the internet.

The layout and text is designed for easy reading on computer screens. Instructors and parents can be assured there is nothing in these books that not suitable for young children.

Secondly or possibly primarily, somewhere for my little cartoon characters to live. I have been a draftsman for many years and during idle moments and in meetings, especially in meetings, little characters get doodled. These characters seem to take on a little life of their own and hang around in the mind until they eventually find a home in a story. They then seem to go away until the next one comes along. These books and the original web site is somewhere to share these little cartoon characters with. If they give anybody a little enjoyment then I am well pleased.

These original picture books are free to download, keep, copy, print and use quite freely without any restriction. Tony J Moon
