A

Bandage

By: The Bronchi Pair

Hello, this story tells the tale of Leo as he learns about the power and importance of bandages.

I'm going to play soccer, Leo says!

"Ow, oh no, I'm falling!"

"Leo, are you okay!?"

"No, I fell down and scraped my arm."

"Okay, let's go back home to clean your wound."

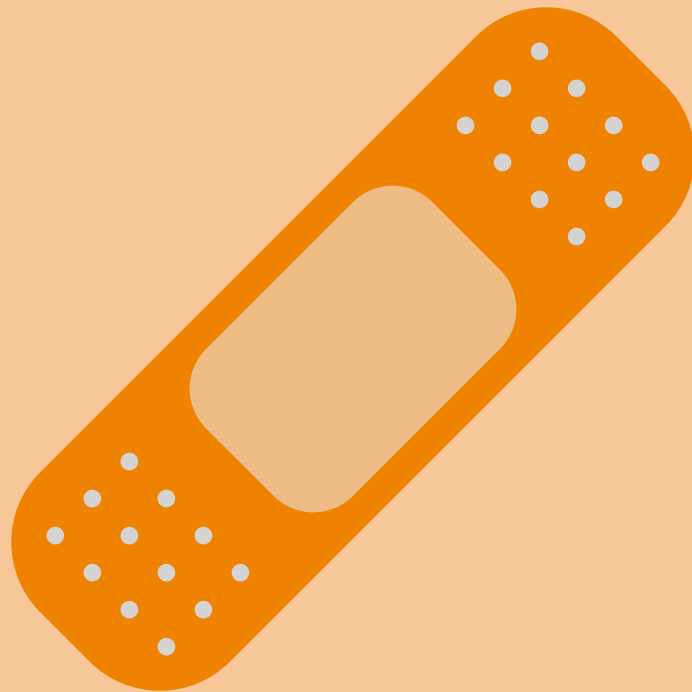

Leo's mom explains that we need to use clean hands and run the wound under water.

After cleaning up the area around the wound, we then need to put on antibiotic ointment to help prevent any infections.

We can now put on a bandage!

Leo's mom says with the bandage on, Leo can continue playing soccer.

But Leo says it feels uncomfortable playing with the bandage. He asks his mom if he can take it off.

Leo's mom explains that having a bandage
on helps the wound heal faster and protects it from germs.

I understand now, Leo exclaims!
By using a bandage, my bruise will disappear faster, and it helps keeps it clean.

The image features several colorful, cartoonish bandages scattered around the central text. In the top left, there's a yellow bandage with orange cat faces. In the top right, a blue bandage with pink pig faces. In the middle left, a green bandage with orange carrots. In the middle right, a pink bandage with white rabbit faces. In the bottom left, a light brown bandage with grey bear faces. In the bottom center, a brown bandage with a smiling face and pink cheeks. In the bottom right, a yellow bandage with red cherries. The central text is in a bold, black, sans-serif font.

Let's all remember the power of a bandage!

About The Bronchi Pair

Inspired by how the human body has two Bronchi, The Bronchi Pair was formed. As a second book in our series, we wrote and designed "The Power of a Bandage" to promote safe and clean hygiene practices for younger kids. We hope you enjoy our book as much as we did creating it!
